Eugenie F. Shonnard

Medium

Description

There are two large orange rock formations that dominate the image. There is grass in the foreground that is shades of light green and there is a cream colored road that begins along the bottom left edge and curves to run along the front of the rock formation on the right. There are five dark green bushes in the foreground near the road. The sky is blue and is dotted with white clouds. The rock formation to the right is still mostly covered with sand, but the formation on the left is exposed at the top and covered in sand about 2/3 of the way up.
