Awake…: A horizontal axis runs across the center of the paper, with different densities of ink hatch marks above and below the axis. Upper left and lower right quadrants of the drawing have darker areas of organic or biomorphic forms. Upper right and lower left quadrants have very spare markings. Here lay Duncan: A horizontal band runs across the center of the paper, slightly angled. Different densities of hatch marks create a pattern of waves near this axis, while most of the paper remains blank.
