

Apache Skull

Date

1990

Primary Maker

Bob Haozous

Medium

rusted steel with shotgun shell casings

Description

A large metal, human skull is attached to the top of a small chest with a single drawer. The skull has its mouth open showing two rows of straight teeth and numerous bullet holes going through the forehead. Along the top of the skull head are a row of four crosses. The back of the sculpture has a solid metal panel with a crown-like top and cross symbols punched through it. The drawer on the bottom does open and inside are numerous spent gun shell casings.

Dimensions

39 3/4 × 23 5/16 × 17 in. (101 × 59.2 × 43.2 cm)