Landscape of hills and houses. The upper middle of the composition has tall hills in green, yellow, and yellow orange which slope down to the left. On top of the hills in the right background sit two structures (houses?) with red roofs and grey walls. From two opposite walls on each, chimney-like protrusions extend up past the peak of the roof. There are trees on either side of the buildings. The bottom half of the composition is filled with green, brown, and dark yellow foliage, with gray rock visible in the bottom left.
